

Sonny O'Neill

He married a woman from
Barnagore

Denis (Sonny) O'Neill (1889-1950), RIC man, British soldier and member of the IRA, played a key role in the events at Bealnablath and subsequently in the Civil War in Tipperary.

The talk will look at the extraordinary life of this man and his part in events during a tumultuous time in our history. It will also examine his life in post civil war Tipperary and his involvement in local politics.
